

CSCP: Certified Supply Chain Professional (4 days seminar)

in cooperation with

Introduction

In today's global, volatile and competitive environment with demanding customers and shorter product life cycles, many companies have focused on their core competencies and outsourced any activities which are considered non-core. This has created a chain or network with different entities performing activities in which they can best make products and services available to customers. Those entities and activities need to be aligned and to work together towards the same goals in order to make products and services available to selected markets and customer groups at the required customer service level, quality, availability and cost.

Seminar Content

The CSCP seminar equips individuals with a broad view of the Supply Chain, extending beyond internal operations to encompass all steps throughout the supply chain – from the supplier, through the company, to the end consumer – and provides individuals with the knowledge to effectively manage the integration of these activities to maximize a company's Supply Chain performance and results.

Key Learnings

Participants in a CSCP seminar

- learn about the concept of Supply Chain Management and to align the Supply Chain Strategy with the Business and Organizational Strategy.
- gain insight into the interconnections of processes within and outside the organization, the conflict of goals related to these processes and how to manage and control these.
- learn how to successfully streamline the Supply Chain 'end-to-end' between customers and suppliers by using internationally recognized methods, models and best practices.
- learn the influence of IT on supporting and managing Supply Chain processes. They also learn how to measure Supply Chain Performance by defining the relevant metrics, to identify and manage risk in the Supply Chain and to deal with security, sustainability and compliance issues.
- learn the necessary common terminology and definitions to communicate in the same language in the supply chain area thereby improving end to end communication and increasing performance.

Seminar Didactics

The seminar consists of a mix of case studies, quiz questions, interactive role play, videos, business simulations, knowledge and best practice transfer via presentation. The seminars are delivered in English and all training materials are in English as well. Exercises to repeat the content, knowledge tests and other exercises during the session and at the end of each session, ensure, that the trainer receives an immediate feedback on the knowledge transfer success. The seminar is supported by a Supply Chain business simulation called The Fresh Connection (TFC). More information on the next page.

Target Audience

The CSCP seminar is designed for individuals with direct influence on the supply chain, supply chain planning activities and its' processes, Department and division management, Functional management and individuals in cross-functional departments. Furthermore, the CSCP seminar is designed for all individuals who would like to obtain the designation Certified Supply Chain Professional (CSCP).
